Memory is a 'dualistic entity', composed of remembering and forgetting, and it is one of the constitutional elements of one's identity and one's self (see for instance, James, 1890/1950; Conway, 2005). As much as remembering, forgetting is constitutive in the formation of new identities (Connerton, 2009). A seminal text in the field of memory studies is that of Yates (1966): memory practices are presented as art, and, in Yates' work, the practical, religious and ethical importance ...
