In most small words with one vowel in the middle, that vowel has a short vowel sound as in the words bad, hen, sit, fox, and fun. Listen to how the sound of the vowel changes if we replace the last letter of each of these words with the letter r: Fat changes to far, cat to car, hen to her, sit to sir, fox to for, fun to fur

"R" controlled vowels

In an R-Controlled Syllable, the vowel is neither long nor short; it is controlled by the letter R and the /r/ sound. The vowel before the R does not make its regular long or short sound, so we say it is being bossed or controlled by the R. Some of these R-Controlled vowels can make the same sound.

Within-Word Pattern Stage - Literacy Partners

I'm starting with the most common r-controlled vowel patterns: er, ur, ir, or, and ar. My four-year-old has been learning to read sight words since right before he turned three. Not because I think two-year-olds need to learn to read (definitely not!), but because I was teaching his older brother (who was four), and he wanted to be part of it.
